DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed May 3, 2004 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: incorporation of the vibratory mechanism of Somero et al. (U.S. Patent 4,655,633) was not originally disclosed.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is a run-on type sentence, it contains legal phraseology (i.e., "or the like"), and refers to the purported merits of the invention. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The manner in which the vibratory motions are imparted to the blade and drum is not properly disclosed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Erickson (U.S. Patent 2,915,839). Erickson discloses an apparatus having a scraping blade (36) and wheeled vehicle (10) with a boom (16) coupled there between. There is a drum (24) mounted behind the blade (Figure 2, for example) and a boom extension (22) coupled between the boom and drum (Figure 1, for example). The drum is not perforated; however, it is well known to use particular roller periphery characteristic in order to obtain a particular finish to a surface. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used a perforated drum with Erickson in order to obtain a desired surface finish. It is deemed inherent that some vibrations would be transferred to the blade and the boom in use since movement of a device over a surface naturally creates vibrations in the system.

Further regarding claim 2, the device of Erickson is used in a similar manner claimed and, given the addition of the perforations, the device would function in an identical manner.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed May 3, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments are directed toward functional language. The examiner maintains that the apparatus of Erickson is capable of performing these functions; therefore, the rejection stands.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
